

PERSONA 2 — DANIEL

PERSONA'S NAME

Daniel Chen

Quotation

"I travel to understand how other people see the world."

Motivation

Curiosity about unfamiliar cultures and belief systems

Interest in human history and symbolic storytelling

Desire to learn through experience rather than only reading

Visiting places that are normally inaccessible or unknown

Frustration

Cultural heritage sites that are closed to the public

Exhibitions that only show objects without context or meaning

Information that is too technical or purely academic

Difficulty imagining how ancient people experienced these places

Goals

To understand how prehistoric people thought and imagined the world

To experience cultural heritage in an immersive way

To connect archaeology with human stories and mythology

To learn something meaningful while traveling

Bio

Daniel is an international traveler who is deeply interested in history, culture, and human imagination. He enjoys visiting places where different civilizations left symbolic traces, especially sites that reveal how people in the past understood the world through myth, ritual, and art. Instead of focusing only on famous landmarks, he prefers hidden or less accessible cultural heritage locations.

Currently traveling in Southern Europe, Daniel is exploring prehistoric sites and museums to better understand early human symbolic expression. Since Grotta dei Cervi is closed to the public, digital access and interpretive storytelling become essential for him to experience the cave and its meaning. He is especially interested in how archaeology, mythology, and perception connect in prehistoric cave art.

Age: 27

Work: Graduate Student / Cultural Researcher

Family: Single

Location: International traveler (currently in Europe)

Character: Curious Explorer / Cultural Seeker